

BOUNDARIES

MISSION

No Boundaries is a special edition newspaper that delivers stories from the typically underreported areas of Buffalo. Community advocates from all over the city will be contributing articles, photography and poetry about the neighborhoods they call home. Its mission is to introduce a new way of thinking about neglected areas of the city once thought too dangerous, too broken, or too different to try to understand. By showing progress and encouraging collaboration, No Boundaries can contribute to a true Buffalo renaissance that is felt by all of its citizens.

Rise Collaborative, a lifestyle brand that promotes locally owned businesses, artists and nonprofits, is proud to partner with Open Buffalo, a community movement for social and economic justice in our city.

BE A PART OF THE SOLUTION

The first issue of No Boundaries will print 7,000 copies to be distributed throughout the city and its outlying suburbs. Advertising dollars will cover the cost of printing and distribution, and all remaining dollars raised will be donated directly to the Open Buffalo Emerging Leaders program.

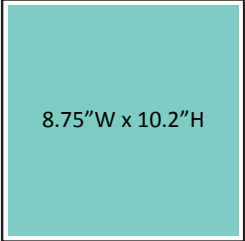

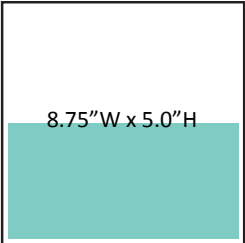

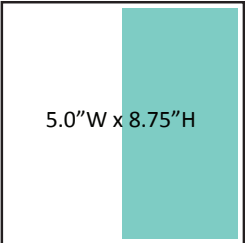

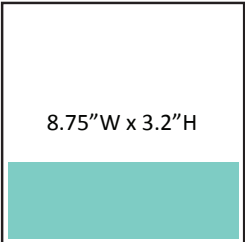

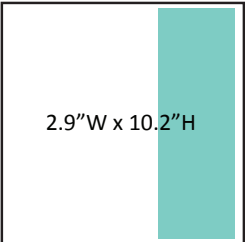

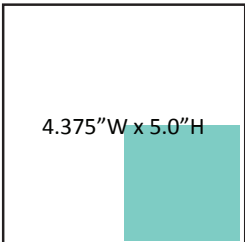

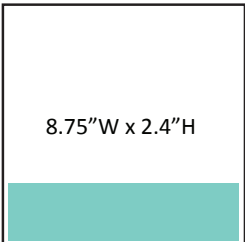

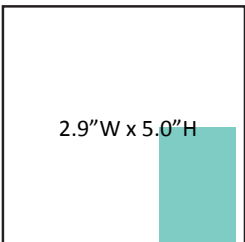

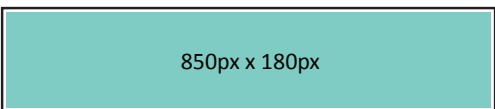

Two weeks after the release of the paper version, we will announce the re-release of all articles, some in extended formats, individually online. As an added value for your sponsorship, you will receive a banner ad in these articles on Risecollaborative.com. See the spec sheet below for available sponsorship opportunities.

Please support the mission of this newspaper. Instead of seeking large corporate sponsors, we want to make this a newspaper that represents the community at the core of Rise Collaborative's mission - small businesses that would like to place a promotional ad, or individuals who are interested in underwriting the cost of an ad and donating the space to a local nonprofit.
